A LETTER · TO WHOEVER OPENS THIS

Hello, you.

You have already done the hardest thing. You sat down. The chair is yours for as long as you like — there is no hurry here, and nobody is counting the minutes.

This little book is not really a menu. It is the closest thing we have to a conversation with you. Inside you will find what we serve, and a little of why we built this place at all.

Order from the QR on your table, or ring the little bell and we will come over. And if a dish ever disappoints you, hand it back — we will remake it, free, and it will not reach your bill. Only, please tell us honestly what was off, so we can fix it — and let's never waste food.

— with warmth, the team at Alley Pally

OUR STORY · WHY THIS PLACE EXISTS

Not a café.
A place to be.

Alley Pally was never meant to be a great place for food — we will say that ourselves, gently. There are kitchens in this city that do food better. We did not open to compete with them.

We opened because somewhere along the way we stopped reading, stopped sitting still with the people we love, stopped looking up at trees. So we made a place where you can pick up a book and read one page, pull out a board game, or step into the backyard and just be.

The wood-fired oven, we built ourselves — brick by brick. If the coffee is good today, we are glad. If the pasta lands right, we are grateful. But please, come for the time you will spend here. The food is only here to keep you company.

The name. Alley — a leafy walkway, lined on both sides with trees and hedges. Pally — friendly, chummy, on easy and familiar terms. Put them together and that is us: a green, unhurried path where everyone is a little pally — the kind of place you quietly fall into the habit of.

IN THE MORNING

Slow mornings

Starting your day slowly is genuinely good for you, and there's simple science behind it. Sitting among plants calms your body and eases stress — we feel more at ease around green, growing things.

A warm cup in your hands, coffee or tea, quietly tells your body it's safe to relax. And reading a newspaper — real paper, not a glowing screen — lets your mind move slowly and calmly, instead of the restless scrolling that tires us out before the day even begins.

Fifteen slow minutes here, and the rest of the day usually follows.

IN THE AFTERNOON & THE EVENING

The long afternoon

Afternoon. Step out of the rush — a slow lunch, a page of a book, a board game with whoever is nearby. Taking a real break, not a phone break, recharges your focus, so you leave sharper than you came. We just call it an afternoon well spent.

Evening. Come into the backyard. Among the plants, with the wood oven glowing close by, something in you settles. Simply watching a fire lowers your blood pressure, and greenery, dusk and warmth together slow you down. It's the gentlest way we know to end a day.

A WALKING TOUR · IN FOUR PARTS

Find your corner

Every seat is regular table height, except the Reader's Room, which sits low on purpose. Every table has a powered socket — charge your phone or laptop, freely. In all, we seat about 76 across the four corners.

01 The Reader's Room

3 four-seaters and 2 two-seaters, low seating. For settling in with a book, comfortably, for a while. Not for a group with games, or if you like to sit upright. The low seats are on purpose — they slow you down and keep the room quiet for readers.

02 The Game Room

4 four-seaters. For spreading out a board game with friends or family. Be as loud as you like — this is where the stress burns off. Just pack the games back, complete and tidy, so the next table can play too.

03 The Quiet Studio

4 tables of four and 8 window-side high chairs — come in the evening and they catch a beautiful sunset. For working, reading (because we love that), or quiet time with family. Borrow a board game if you like, and return it exactly as found. Something official to do? There is a printer, a notepad and stationery, free to use (kindly, within reason). And no book ever leaves its cabin: they are our golden treasures.

04 The Backyard

4 four-seaters and 2 two-seaters by the garden. Pets welcome; games stay indoors. This is the heart of Alley Pally — we filled it with plants on purpose, to bring a little calm and a pocket of the wild into the city. Please, no waste or trash in the garden.

EVERY SUNDAY · LIVE IN THE BACKYARD

Sunday nights

Every Sunday evening the backyard turns to music — and you are invited. No ticket, no cover. On us.

And hearing it live, with other people around, adds a warm sense of belonging that earphones can't. Once a week is enough to feel the difference. So come, sit in the garden, and let an evening undo the week — it's the simplest medicine we know, and it's free.

FROM THE FIRE

Why wood-fired

We built the oven ourselves, brick by brick, and we cook with real wood. It isn't just for show — it makes a better pizza, and a lighter one. The fire gets very hot (around 450°C) and bakes a pizza in about a minute and a half.

That quick, hot bake gives you a thin, crisp crust that stays light instead of soaking up oil, toppings that stay fresh, and a base that's easier on your stomach. Less oil, more flavour, nothing artificial — just flour, fire and time.

Make your own? Ask our team. When we are not too crowded, we will hand you the dough and show you how — peel, flames and all. After 5 PM, the fire takes over; before then, the same pizzas come from the regular oven.

BEFORE WE GO ANY FURTHER

A few small kindnesses

If it's not right — don't love a dish? We'll replace it, free and on us. Just tell us honestly, so we can make it right.

Please don't waste food — order what you'll finish; we're always glad to pack the rest for you.

The books & games — borrow freely, then return them exactly as you found them. Someone else will want their turn.

Allergies — tell us before you order. The kitchen is a shared space, so we would rather be honest about what we can promise.

Smoking — nowhere inside, not even the backyard. The garden is the heart of this place.

Pets — we loveee them. The backyard is their happy place; indoors stays people-only, for the comfort of every guest. And the pup cup? Entirely on us — after all, they deserve to chill out too.

Outside food — kindly leave it outside. This space is fully ours, and now yours too.

Your bill — all prices are exclusive of taxes. Do check it before paying.

HOW IT WORKS

Ordering, & a word on tips

To order, two ways. Ring the little bell on your table and someone will be right over. Or — even quicker — scan the QR on your table and order straight from your seat. It saves you the wait, and it genuinely helps us keep things smooth.

On tips. Anything you leave for the service team goes straight to them — never to us, not a rupee. And the biggest tip you can give us? An honest Google review. That one keeps us going.

We are a vegetarian kitchen, with eggs — and we chose it on purpose. It is lighter on the body, far gentler on the planet (a plant-and-egg plate uses a fraction of the water and land of a meat one), and, done well, it wants for nothing. Everything here is vegetarian unless it says it contains egg. Tell us about allergies before you order — the kitchen is a shared space.

HOW IT'S COOKED

After 5 PM, each pizza bakes straight on the hot brick floor of our wood-fired oven, at around 450°C. The flames curl over the top to blister the crust, and we turn it once by hand — done in about ninety seconds. Before 5 PM, the same pizzas come from the regular oven.
